

AMAZON WEB SERVICES AND CIM4.0 TOGETHER IN SUPPORT OF ITALIAN SMEs

THE BEST TECHNOLOGICAL SOLUTIONS AVAILABLE TO THE INDUSTRIAL SECTOR

Turin, January 27, 2022 - Together with Italian small and medium-sized enterprises to support them strategically and operationally in their digital transformation process with a view to I4.0. This is the main technological mission that the CIM4.0 - National Competence Center, focused on additive manufacturing (advanced 3D printing) and digital factory, has been carrying out for more than 2 years throughout the country.

A model that works because it promotes industrial competitiveness effectively using new technologies and the transfer of specialized knowledge, and it does so by collaborating with universities and a set of industrial partners of the highest level.

The collaboration with Amazon Web Services (AWS), which is now one of the primary companies that collaborate with the Competence Center, has thus been added to offer all SMEs privileged and guided access to the AWS cloud services that enable digital and ecological transition process and make production and processes highly competitive.

"We are very excited to collaborate actively and strategically with a globally recognized innovation leader such as AWS. This is a great opportunity that further qualifies our mission, centered on technology transfer in a 4.0 perspective, mainly towards Italian small and medium-sized enterprises that will thus be able to know and use, together with our work teams, the best technologies applied in industry and grow in terms of competitiveness and international attractiveness"- declared Enrico Pisino, CEO of CIM4.0.

"We are pleased to support the digital transformation of the industrial sector and SMEs in Italy through the collaboration with the Competence Center CIM4.0" - declared Carlo Giorgi, Managing Director, AWS Italy. "Thanks to our deep experience, AWS is changing the way these industries apply technological advances to the entire manufacturing process. The cloud represents the fulcrum of digitization, innovation and an opportunity for growth for small and medium-sized Italian companies that aim to be more competitive".
